Vikings were members of Scandinavian bands of sea rovers who launched a series of devastating and successful raids on England, France, Germany and many other European countries. The Vikings were adventurous people who loved war and fighting. They were skillful, daring seamen and efficient ship builders. The Vikings or Northmen, had an everlasting influence on the countries they visited. The development of Europe was strongly influenced by the strong will of the Viking warriors.

The title of the West High Yearbook, Valhalla, is a word from the Viking language and folklore meaning, "the promised land of the Vikings."

the land of magic

ONE HUNDRED YEARS OF PROGRESS

IN THE GREAT SAN JOAQUIN VALLEY

On September 10, 1863, Colonel Thomas Baker, purchaser and owner of certain reclamation rights in the San Joaquin Valley, arrived and settled in an area known as "swamp and overflowed land."

The site of Bakersfield was then an area covered with undrained swamps, forested with willows, cottonwoods, and sycamore trees.

Settlers from Visalia crossed the Kern River at Gordon's Ferry on their way south. They stopped in the settlement of Kern Island, the village growing up about "Colonel Baker's field." This settlement was to become known as Bakersfield and the county seat.

Kern County was created on April 2, 1866, by a noted secessionist, Asbury Harpending. The name Kern was derived from the Kern River flowing through the valley, and the county was formed out of Tulare and Los Angeles counties as they existed in 1866.

Bountiful crops growing in the fertile soil, cattle fattening on the hillsides, oil flowing from thousands of wells and other vital minerals being mined or quarried... this is Kern County today. With cotton in the lead of all the crops, then potatoes comprising three quarters of the entire California crop, Kern County displays its agricultural wealth. Closely following are livestock, alfalfa, grapes, grain, fruits and vegetables.

Truly a "Land Of Magic," Kern County is a rare combination of economic progress and business activity closely related to oil and agricultural enterprises. Cultural life of Kern County is constantly being enriched with fine art programs, theatre and year-round youth activities.

KERN COUNTY UNION HIGH SCHOOL AND JUNIOR COLLEGE DISTRICT ADMINISTRATION OFFICES

administration

The principal, assistant principal, faculty, and administrative staff of West High is determined to put forth their best efforts to develop West High into the finest school in the district.

The duties and responsibilities of our principal, Mr. Edwin De Mello, include general supervision, of all school functions, activities and personnel. Mr. De Mello assigns duties to all school employees and is in charge of developing and directing public relation policies and programs. He is also in charge of budgeting, financing and all other business affairs of West High School.

Prior to coming to West High, Mr. De Mello was principal at Arvin High School. He has also served as principal of McFarland High School and Vice Principal of Arvin.

In preparing for the opening of the new school, Mr. De Mello worked closely with the architect, supervising the construction. He worked out the courses of study, supervised the ordering of text books and equipment. He also hired new teachers and chose his administrative staff.

Mr. Tom Henley, assistant principal, supervises the day-by-day operations of the entire school program of West High and assists in directing all activities. Mr. Henley supervises the physical facilities and maintenance of the school plant. He also maintains the school calendar, selects and assigns substitute teachers. He delegates the professional staff to supervision duties.

Before coming to West High, Mr. Henley served as principal of McFarland High School where he previously taught classes in government. He also worked at Arvin High School where he taught business and government.

Both Mr. Henley and Mr. De Mello have been instrumental in the development of West High School from the blueprints to the actual operation. They have strived to make the best possible academic environment available to the students.

Department of English

Convinced that many of mankind's tensions are the result of mutual misunderstandings, the English Department is keenly concerned about improving a student's ability to communicate more efficiently. English skills are not viewed as merely being valuable to the subject area of English; on the contrary, their mastery results in an easing of conflict in virtually every area of human involvement.

THE DEPARTMENT OF ENGLISH: MR. ROBERT NESTOR, English 10.3, 11.4, Journalism 9 to 11, and chairman of the English Department. M.A., Fresno State College. MR. PAUL BAILEY, English 9.4, 11.3, U.S. History 11.3. A.B., University of San Francisco. MRS. BEVERLY BOUSALL, English 10.4, 11.3, 11.4. A.B., University of Pennsylvania. MISS KATHLEEN BOSCHEN, English 9.3, 9.4, 10.4. A.B., University of Virginia.

DEPARTMENT OF ENGLISH: MR. JIM WREN, English 9, 3, World Civics 9, 3. A. B., Sacramento State College. MRS. PAT CHURCH, English 9, 3, 10, 3, 11, 3. B. S., Miami University of Ohio.

SPECIAL EDUCATION: MR. RON KITCHTON, Special education, assistant football coach. B. S. Ed., Ohio State University.

DEVELOPMENTAL READING: MR. WILLIAM MORRIS, Developmental reading, reading coordinator, West High School Book Store. A. B. Ed. M., Tufts University.

Department of Business Education

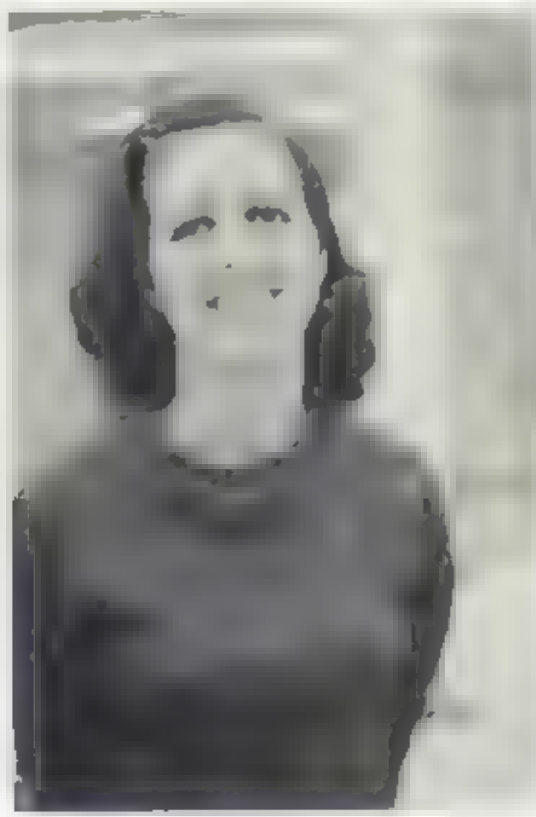

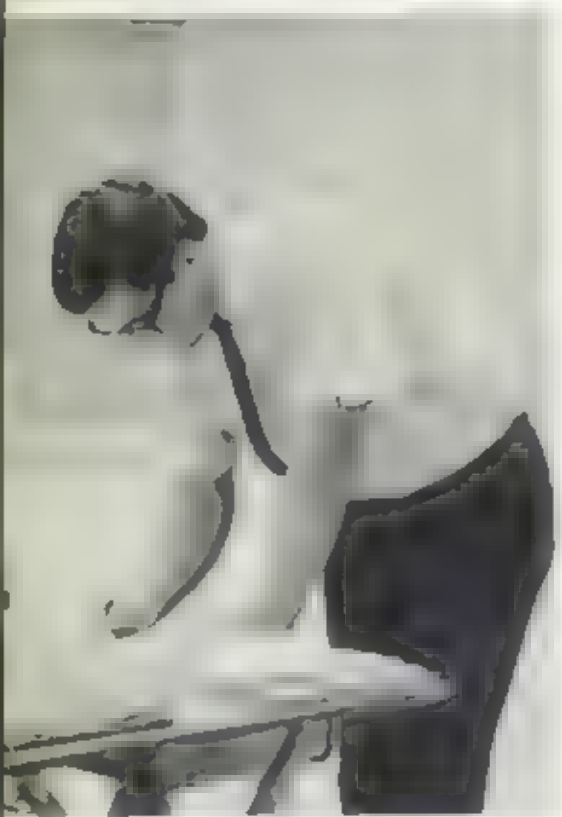

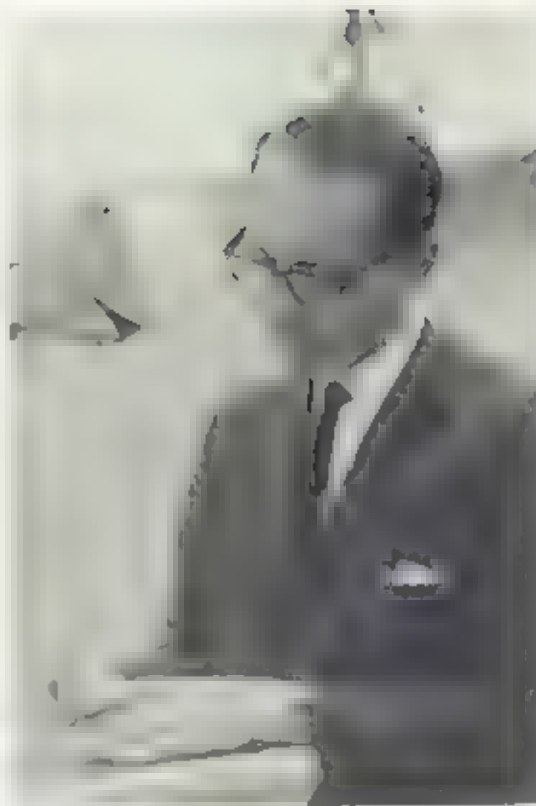

The courses offered in the Business Education Division are planned to give students the basic knowledge and skills needed to handle business transactions in daily life and to prepare them to enter the business world of today.

DEPARTMENT OF BUSINESS EDUCATION: MR. IVAN PFEFFER, head of department; General Business 9, Physical Education, Book-keeping 9, M. A., Colorado State College. MR. JIM ALLEN, Typing 10A, General Business 9A, Office Practice 11, B. A., Sacramento State College. MRS. DORIS SHROEDER, Shorthand 11, Typing 11, and 10, B. S., University of Oregon.

Department of Fine Arts

The Fine Arts Department provides a means of expression and communication. It is designed to be an integral part of all our activities. The purpose of all the fine arts, music, art, drama, vocal and instrumental music, is to satisfy human needs and make our daily living more meaningful and effective

THE DEPARTMENT OF FINE ARTS MR. HARRY B. CRITSER JR., Art 9, English 10.3, Yearbook advisor. M.A., Indiana State University. MRS. ANN HEIDT, Art 9, 10, 11. B.A., Hiram College. MR. COKE SMITH, IV, Music, West High School Band. B.M.E., M.S., Indiana University

Department of Homemaking

Homemaking education is related to the ways families live so that it carries over into the homes and adult lives of the students.

The contributions of Homemaking Education include individual growth and personal development of all students. From this basic knowledge, students learn to make discriminating economic choices. Homemaking also develops the students appreciation and attitudes which will enrich their lives and the lives of others.

DEPARTMENT OF HOMEMAKING: MRS. KATHERINE L. BURDICK, head of the Homemaking department. Homemaking 9, 10 and 11, M. A., Fresno State College, MRS. DORTHY RYDER, Homemaking, World Civilization. A. B., University of California and San Jose State College.

Department of Industrial Arts

The Industrial Arts department attempts to acquaint young people who are now consumers of industrial products, with some of the problems of living in an industrial society. Through an understanding of the skills and problems of industry, the Industrial Arts department strives to prepare students for the future.

DEPARTMENT OF INDUSTRIAL ARTS: MR. FORREST J. BINGHAM, head of the department, Woodworking, Study Hall. M. S., Oregon State University. MR. LOYD HOKIT, Agricultural Science, Biology. M. SEBASTIAN LAMB, Exploratory Shop, Auto Shop, Power Mechanics and Electricity. B. S. Ed., University of Idaho. MR. LOYD P. WOLLEN, Metal Shop, Shop Drawing. M. A., Long Beach State College.

Department of Mathematics

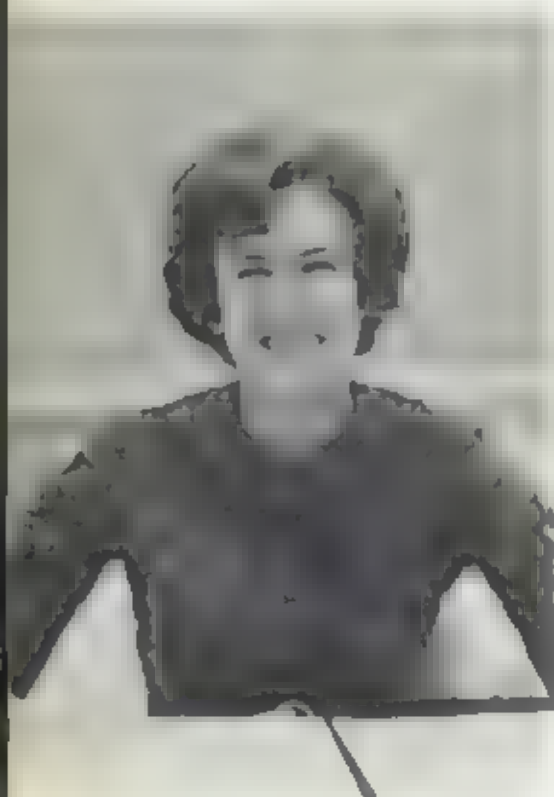

Modern mathematics is traditional in content but modern in approach and application. Two main areas of study are provided for all students to assure a basic knowledge of the mathematic structure and operation of our number system.

DEPARTMENT OF MATHEMATICS: MR. DARRELL MEADERS, head of the department; Mathematics, Algebra. M.S. Ed., University of Southern California. MRS. RUTH HOOVER, Mathematics, Algebra. A.B., UCLA. MR. ROBERT RITCHEY, Mathematics, Algebra and Geometry. M.A., Miami University of Ohio. MR. BERT ROWE, head football coach, Mathematics. M.A., Fresno State College. MISS CHRISTINE STOFFEL, Mathematics. B.S., Bowling Green State University, Ohio.

Department of Modern Language

The modern language program emphasizes from the beginning, mastery of the spoken language. Under the audio-lingual approach, the student comes to view his study of French, German, or Spanish as communication for a bilingual citizenry. This method leads ultimately to a higher level of achievement in all language skills. In our ever-shrinking world the ability to use a modern language is in growing demand. Its cultural benefits become an indispensable part of the student's liberal education in the modern high school.

DEPARTMENT OF MODERN LANGUAGE: MR. WALTER E. PEDERSON, head of the Language department. Spanish 9, 10, 11. M. A., University of Minnesota. MISS DIANA BLIM, German 9, 10, 11 and Spanish 9. A. B., University of California, Davis. MR. STUART HURDLE, French 1, 2 and 3. A. B., University of Wyoming. MR. CHARLES SWITZER, Spanish 9. M. A., Purdue University.

Department of Sciences

We are living in an era where scientific information is being compiled at an astonishing rate. To cope with these rapid changes in concepts, we have developed the science programs to give students an appreciation and understanding of the vastness of scientific discovery.

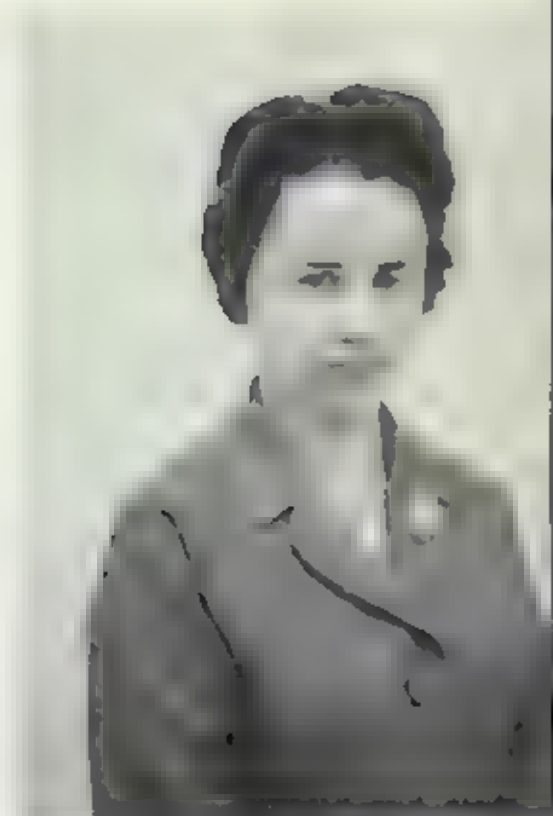

DEPARTMENT OF SCIENCES: MR. WAYNE NUNES, Chemistry and Physical Science, M.S., University of Arizona. MR. BRUCE CURTIS, Biology, M.S., Syracuse University. MR. JEROME JACKSON, Biology, B.S., Iowa State University. MR. LLOYD HOKIT, Agricultural Science, Biology 10, M.A., California State Polytechnic College. MR. FRED LANINGHAM, Biology, Varsity Baseball coach, B.S., University of Pittsburg.

Department of Social Studies

Social Studies is primarily concerned with the study of the geographical environment, the political and economic systems and the cultural and social background of past and present civilizations. The knowledge, skill and attitudes developed or re-enforced in the social studies contribute to effective citizenship in our society.

DEPARTMENT OF SOCIAL STUDIES: MR. TOM JONES, head of the department, U. S. History and World Civilizations, M. A., University of California. MR. ROBERT HIMES, World Civilization, M. A., University of California. MR. PAUL BAILEY, English, U. S. History B. A., University of San Francisco. MR. DOUGLAS CARROLL, counselor, U. S. History, World Civilizations, M. B., Sacramento State College.

Department of Physical Education Boys

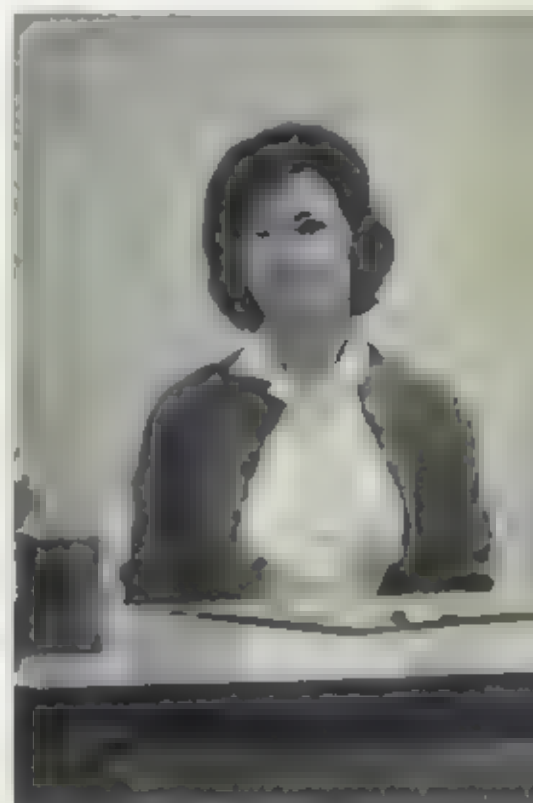

The purpose of the Physical Education Department is, through classes and related activities, to give all students an opportunity to increase in health and physical efficiency. It will enable the student to find satisfaction in a variety of activities so their leisure time, both in school and later life, will become a constructive factor. The Physical Education Department strives to develop an interest and promote good health through physical fitness.

THE DEPARTMENT OF PHYSICAL EDUCATION, BOYS: MR. RICHARD TUCKER, head of the Physical Education Department; Football coach. M. A., Cal Poly, San Luis Obispo. MR. IVAN PFEFFER, Physical Education, General Business, Bookkeeping, Basketball. M. A., Colorado State College. MR. RONALD SUGGS, Physical Education, track coach. B. S., University of Kansas. MR. FLOYD THIONNET, Physical Education, Wrestling. B. S., University of Arizona

Department of Physical Education GIRLS

The purpose of the Physical Education Department is to give all students an equal opportunity to develop in health and physical efficiency. It also seeks to provide satisfaction from a variety of activities. Physical fitness is an essential part of daily living both in school and later in life. The Physical Education Department strives to develop an interest in physical fitness, sports and related activities that will carry over into adulthood.

DEPARTMENT OF PHYSICAL EDUCATION, GIRLS: MRS. MARILYN KIMLER, Girls' Physical Education. A. B., Ohio Wesleyan University. MRS. ELSA J. KOMINITSKY, Girls' Physical Education. B. Student Government

THE STUDENT GOVERNMENT plays an important role in the life of every student at West High. Student Government is the organization and management of student life, activities and discipline on campus. The Student Government also serves as a line of communication between the faculty and the students. This experience in government promotes a greater understanding of the democratic system and provides students with an opportunity to assume responsibility.

JUNIORS

The class of 1967, West High's first graduating class, was led by the Junior Class Council which met every other Monday throughout the year. Heading the Council was President Dennis Pensinger who was assisted by officers Fred Borton, Charles Smith, Diana Brown and Susan Nelms. The Council consisted of the officers and a representative from each junior advisory. Helping advise the Council were Mr. Tom Jones, Mrs. Doris Shroeder, Mrs. Hazel McCuen and Mr. Wayne Nunes.

The Council was active in sponsoring an after the game dance, the sale of Viking decals, and a magazine sale, their chief money-making project. The council also sponsored the Spring Formal
